

Chassis HW1 Preparation Update

June 3, 2009

Work is moving along smoothly on the roll out of chassis HW1. This is Matt's Howe Chassis that seems to work quite well on short tracks. We delivered a completed car with a new engine package to Dick Anderson on Tuesday for final prep leading up to next weeks return to Orlando on June 12th. This is also the chassis that brought Matt to victory lane (at Orlando) in his 2nd Sunbelt Super Late Model start this time last year.

With Orlando behind us, Matt looks forward to select ASA Asphalt Series events where he has a chance to mix it up with some of the same names we have competed with in previous series. It involves some traveling, but looking back, it was the traveling that brought home some major wins (and great friends). In conversations with Dick, there is almost no track in the East that he has not raced at and won numerous times.

Adding Bonefish Grill to our stable is both an honor and a welcomed partner to Matt's future. Along with Skybolt Aerospace & Defense, CTech Cabinets, Mazak CNC Machinery, Premier Equipment, The Villages Motor Racing Fan Club, Allen & Co, Linda Marsh Enterprises, Malcolm Yawn Photography, and Go Figure Accounting, adding a national powerhouse name like Bonefish Grill, exemplifies the quality and performance of Matt, Dick Anderson, and the entire MBR Team. Ginn Clubs and Resorts has been the deciding factor for Matt's past accomplishments, so they will always ride in Matt's stable (Come on back economy!), just like all sponsors who join Matt's inner circle.

While Matt and Dick Anderson complete their chores for next weeks event, Matt has officially completed his last day of high school. He graduates with honors this Friday and has achieved a Bright Futures Scholarship. He will begin the fall semester at Lake Sumter Community College. Matt plans to minor in engineering, but complete his schooling with a business degree.

Also in the works – Matt Bowers Reports – Matt is putting the final plans together to host his own radio show covering the world of Motorsports with a business twist to the format. He plans to showcase various drivers, their legacy to the sport, and how they got there, or didn't get there, depending on where "there" is. Stay tuned and stay close to that dial!
